

Mesh Curtain Led Display

The bar-shaped special full color LED display belonged to the group of display for both outdoor and indoor use is mainly applicable to the outdoor extremely large live LED display project.

In order to ensure enough luminescent of pixels for outdoor display project, the silicone sealant has been used to seal the front surface of the modules for waterproof treatment and the color of silicone sealant corresponding to color chart has been customized to the requirement of project for coordinating with the color of the outside wall of the building.

The outlet cable of module is made of silicone material with supreme high&low temperature performance and matched with specialized waterproof connector. The specialized wholly-sealed waterproof structure of modules can make the display reach IP65.

